

GRAPES

Egyptian grapes are among the most important fruit crops exported by Egypt to global markets. Egyptian grapes are known for their high quality and sweet taste, as they are grown in fertile soil and sunny climates that contribute to their ripening and distinctive quality. Egypt produces various types of grapes, such as seedless red and green grapes, and is one of the leading countries exporting fresh grapes to Europe, Africa, and Asia, thanks to the timing of the Egyptian harvest season, which aligns well with global markets.
